INSTALLATION MEASURES

Dansani a safe choice / and your security

There are specific requirements for the use of electrics within your bathroom, as water will act as a conductor for electricity with the risk of electrocution to follow. Depending on where in the bathroom you wish to place lighting or furniture with electrical components (illumination and shaver points) there are specific IP classifications that must be adhered to. The IP classification is an international standard, that details the ability of the equipment to withstand water and other objects. The first number details how dust proof the product is, whilst the second number refers to how waterproof the item is.

At Dansani your safety is a priority for us. Therefore we have mounted all electrical parts in our furniture so you can rest assured that safe installation and daily use comes as standard. At the same time we also want to ensure you can maximize the space available within your particular bathroom.

The following illustrations show the rules for where furniture with electrical parts can be placed within bathrooms with a bath or shower. However irrespectively always ensure proper and adequate protection against moisture damage to your bathroom furniture.

- Zone 0: The wettest part of the bathroom i.e. inside the actual bath or shower tray. No mirrors or furniture with electrical parts allowed.
- Zone 1: From the floor level of outside of the bath or shower tray to 2,25 m vertically no mirrors and furniture with electric parts allowed.
- Zone 2: A limited area with a radius of 60 cm from the outside of the bath or shower tray with a vertical height of 2,25 m. A minimum requirement of IP44 rating applies, and no shaver point is allowed. Dansani offers a number of IP44 rated mirrors that can be placed anywhere within Zone 2, whilst IP44 approved mirror cabinets and vanity units with shaver points can be placed partly in both zones as long as the actual shaver point itself is positioned in zone 3.
- Zone 3: Remaining space in the room. Minimum requirement is IP20 and 230v power outlets are allowed.

Light

Dansani develops all LED-fixtures and lamps right down to the LED-chip specifying the light quality, temperature and other important properties to ensure the best possible quality – both technically, but also in consumer experience. These solutions are then standardised across our products to make installing, service and aftersales easy and straightforward.

Light can be many things from clear working light to soft, indirect light building atmosphere. To accommodate various tastes and preferences, Dansani develops many types of fixtures and lamps with quite different properties and design features. The output can be seen in the table below.

There is no standard method for measuring light from bathroom fittings. Therefore Dansani has developed a way to give further information concerning light level and output. This means that there are detailed information on lighting measurements for all Dansani products featuring lighting e.g. mirrors, mirror cabinets, internal lighting in drawers and cabinets. The measures display the amount of light dispersed to the various work zones e.g. washbasin, at eye-level and in the overall room.

Dansani light measurements

Definition for lighting measurements
Watt (W)	Measure for energy	Dansani has chosen the more energy efficient 350mA constant current system and the 12 V system
Kelvin (K)	Measure for light temperature	A candle is 2700K - Dansani has chosen a more white but still warm light at 3000-3150K for best experience
Lux (lx)	Measure for light received on a specific point	Measure for light received on a specific point, Dansani provides real life measurements of all 60 cm mirrors and mirror cabinets for comparison
Lumen (lm)	Measure for light dispersed from a lightsource	A quite theoretical value as it can not take into account how the light is limited by shades and design of the light/lamp
CRI or Ra	Measure for Colour Rendering Index	Tells the ability of light/lamps or fixtures for showing true colours – Dansani works with min. a CRI-value of 90

Lighting Measurements		1. CEILING - indirect light	2. EYE - light at face	3. TABLE - work light	4. ROOM - contribution to general light
